>It was Friday night and Hiccup was seriously bored._

Well it's not like he had a social life before meeting Jack but, the parties, the new friends, those things make Hiccup feel really good and kind of important.

But now, he felt lonely, Jack was not a home and he wanted to see him _so_ hard.

After a few minutes lost in his thoughts, he heard a noise from the other side of the door.

Jack, he thought.

Hiccup suddenly got up from the sofa, running towards the front door and opened it looking outside for the white-haired boy.

And he was there.

It wasn't just a guy opening a door; it was the _most handsome guy_ on planet Earth opening a door. And then he saw him.

"Hey kiddo." Said Jack.

"I'm not a kiddo, I told you" he said while closing the door of his apartment and walking towards Jack.

"Of course you are!" replied Jack, smirking. "come in."

>"Sooooâ€¦darling." Said Jack putting an arm around the brunette's shoulder. "What's up?"

"I was bored."

"Was?"

"Yeah, until you came. I was likeâ€¦uhmâ€¦well."

"Waiting for me, kiddo?"

Hiccup just blushed, he didnÂ´t say anything, leading to Jack understand the answer.

Jack obviously smirked, and came nearer to Hiccup, hugging him.

_Oh, gods, Hiccup, stop blushing! _Said the brunette to himself. But the only thing he could do was returning the hug.

>Well, after like, ten minutes of cuddling, hugging, and struggling Hiccup thought that it was time to get to his apartment.

"Hi~ccup, don't go~ it's Friday!"

"My dad is about to come Jack, I can't."

Jack pouted.

Oh my fucking gods, he looks adorable.

"Sorry Jack."

Hiccup got up from the sofa and went to Jack's front door.

"Do I even get a goodnight kiss?"

The brunette rolled his eyes, walking through the hall to his apartment. But thenâ€¦

Nah, fuck everything.

He walked again toward Jack's apartment knowing that he was standing in the entrance. He faced him, grabbed his sweater and kissed him on the lips.

He just turned and started to walk again.

Jack stood there, surprised.

"_Now,_ I'm turned on."

Then he reached Hiccup's wrist, dragging him to the apartment.

"Wha-uh-ah!"

"Dad will have to wait, darling"

And he closed the door.

End
file.
